

Our speaker, Ted Janusz (pronounced “Janus”), says, “If I lecture at my audience, they don’t retain the information. But if they help write the script, they do.”

Janusz has delighted audiences for over 5,000 hours (including over 800 full-day seminars) in 49 of the 50 United States (lone exception: Wyoming), in Canada from Halifax to Vancouver, in Australia, Mexico, and in Puerto Rico.

Ted is a Certified Speaking Professional. Less than 12 percent of the 5,000+ speakers worldwide who belong to the Global Speakers Federation currently hold this professional designation.

His work has been featured on sites like Business Week.com and MSNBC.com, and he was also invited to appear on the FOX News Channel.

As a former professional entertainer, Ted performed at over 400 events.

Ted is also runner who has covered over 35,000 miles – that’s 1.5 times around the globe!

Janusz is a member of the National Speakers Association. He earned his MBA in marketing from the University of Pittsburgh.
